

Circuit Court Clerk Frank Alexander has set 10 a. m., Tuesday for a hearing on an injunction sought against the mayor and commissioners of Bay St. Louis seeking them to call an election for the council-manager form of government.

The chancellor also ordered that the names of 908 persons which the city disqualified from a petition for such referendum last December be furnished to the petitioners' attorneys in their office on or before May 10—Friday—and that the city produce in court the registration and poll books in use on and before Dec. 1.

The order was signed Saturday when the bill for injunction, expenses and attorneys' fees were filed in Chancery Court by Michael D. and Nicholas M. Haas, counsel for the petitioners. Notice was given the city two weeks ago that court relief would be sought unless an election were called.

Complainants are E. J. Marango, chairman of the council-manager plan of government committee, Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., J. N. Aiken, H. A. Warren, Carver, Earl Ramond, George D. Benedetto, Norton Haas, sr., A. K. Martinovich, sr., and George S. Allison, secretary of the committee for better city government.

Defendants are Mayor John A. Scafide and Commissioners J. Cyril Glover and Warren E. Traub. The bill asks that the officials be taxed as individuals for costs in the case.

Petitioners contend the petition signed by 1,004 persons and filed last Dec. 1 with City Clerk Glover contained sufficient signatures, that the administration used every possible scheme to disqualify the petition and an election on the matter should be called. If the injunction is granted, the court is asked to retain jurisdiction over every step of the election. If the vote favors a change in form of government, the court is asked to put it in effect by overseeing hiring of the city manager, fixing pay of the mayor and commissioners and general reorganization of the city. The litigation is brought against the city.

The petitioners contend that action in behalf of petitioners for an election.

They complain Mayor Scafide developed a "hostile and threatening attitude" toward members of the committee which formed early last year, threatened attorney Michael Haas and his family and took issue with Marango, the harassment amounting to denial of their civil rights. They claim similar frustrations by Clerk Glover, particularly in respect to getting the number of qualified electors in Bay St. Louis and names of petitioners which were disqualified.

Investigation of the election records showed deliberate scheming to deny the petition.

They allege, Efforts were made to make the number of qualified voters appear much larger than true and by advertising persons to remove their names from the list. Some of the signatures were wrongfully moved from the petitioners' list.

In their petition to compel the city to call an election, the 908 persons plan to call the council-manager plan of government which Glover said in 11 were not registered, ask for the 70 names of signatures are held not to 20 persons whose signatures were declared illegible; a said to be duplicates.

The hearing will be held in Harrison County Court.

The chancellor also ordered that the names of 303 persons which the city disqualified from a petition for such referendum last December be furnished to the petitioners' attorneys in their offices on or before May 10--Friday--and that the city produce in court the registration and poll books in use on and before Dec. 1.

Moving the county superintendent of education's office from the Courthouse to space recently vacated by the Farmers Home Administration in the Agricultural Center was approved after Curves said he had consulted with Superintendent Eugene Ladner. He is to move as soon as the office can be fixed. This will enable the supervisors to meet in the present school board quarters rather than the small office of the chamber clerk. Curves noted the empty space would have the money to build a new Courthouse at this time.

Philip Kidd, civil defense director, said he was advised by several businessmen that two of the bidders, Chester Favre and Joseph Lander, were not qualified under the state merit system and would have to be cut until they pass the necessary examinations. Kidd said he was not sure if the Harbor Porters were a bona fide officer since he had been given instruction by the Coast Guard auxiliary.

He asked the board to think in terms of a $10,000 allocation next year for civil defense which would provide a $21,000 wage increase for the fund. This would permit a man in the fifth grade and a clerk and would entail one-half mill in revenue on the curb.

St. Rose High School to close next month

St. Rose de Lima High School is to cease operation at the end of this school year.

Rev. George Haffner, pastor, St. Rose de Lima parish, said financial difficulties were the principal reason behind the move.

The decision to close the high school operation on Ne-cause Avenue was made by the Home and School Assn. at a special session May 2 in the school cafeteria.

It has since been confirmed by diocesan authorities.

The elementary school will continue in full operation and pre-registration for its pupils will be from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the school.

Opened first in 1924 as the first Catholic High School for negroes on the Mississippi Gulf Coast its enrollment has declined since consolidation in the various municipal and county school systems became effective.

St. Rose is staffed by the Holy Spirit Missionary Sisters of Tochny, Ill. They are assisted by Clyde Nodham and Mrs. Lionel Bradley.

On peace negotiations over the Vietnam war, Stennis said the U.S. can't win at the moment. He said the negotiations table unless it is winning on the battlefield. He doesn't anticipate any agreement on peace until the calendar year.

The U.S. can't turn and run out of Vietnam, Stennis asserted, or it will be inviting worse trouble somewhere else soon. If Asia is to be saved from Asiatic communism, the Asian countries have got to bear more of the load. He favored ed $3,500 for advertising by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Frank Kiefer, chamber manager, said $1,500 was needed now and the balance before the trade seminar in October. The county also makes a monthly contribution to the chamber.

A $200 ad was authorized in the Mississippi Deep Sea Roddeo program and selection of a princess from the county was turned over to the chamber.

On Kellar's motion a lien land lease to John E. and Rita K. Mars was cancelled and re-issued to Albert Mars.

Clerk Marie Quintini was directed to issue a $12,000 refund to the federal government for over-payment on three 16th Section tracts covering 100 acres in the NASA buffer zone at Pearl River. The board also went on record that no payments will be authorized from the general fund without Miss Quintini's approval. In passing on the April claim docket, the board disallowed a number of items which it said were not properly receipted.

Because of complaints of possible tuberculosis case, the health department was requested to bring its mobile x-ray unit to the county and to check on proper washing of glasses in some smaller restaurants.

Clean-up, bond sales Supervisors claim
Waveland town topics

Clean up the Beach was the theme of Tuesday night's meeting of Waveland Town Council. At a previous meeting Council had reacted to complaints of citizens by notifying property owners through certified mail with return receipt requested. When addresses were known through legal advertisement in the Echo where addresses were not known, Council Tuesday for a hearing to determine whether or not property owners should be notified by public health and safety.

Town Clerk C. O. Dufour presented evidence that the property owners who were notified by mail had received the letters and proof of publication in cases where addresses were not known and when no owners appeared by 10 p.m. the property owned by those persons legally notified was declared a menace to public health and safety and Mayor Garfield Lador was authorized to have the work done and assess the cost up to $100 as a lien against the property.

Ordinance 120 provides that if the cost is not paid governing authorities can sell the property to satisfy the lien. Action will be withheld in a few cases where owners have indicated their intention to perform the work themselves.

Notification was also deferred on a number of others until the current cases are cleared up.

Tuesday was also the date for receiving bids for the $25,000 general obligation bond sale to finance street improvements and public recreational facilities but Dufour announced no bids had been received. Council's attorney, Lucien Goss, Jr., was authorized to prepare another legal notice setting a new date of June 4, Dufour to mail copies to prospective purchasers.

Acting on council's instructions, Goss presented an ordinance, later adopted unanimously, requiring peddlers to pay all privilege taxes required by state law and to obtain a permit from the town clerk. The peddlers must file a sworn application giving the name and address, brief description of nature of business, name of employer with credentials, description of vehicle if used, evidence of good character and business responsibility of applicant, and a statement whether applicant has been convicted of crime, misdemeanor or violation of any municipal ordinance. The town marshal will investigate the application and if approved, endorse it. The ordinance also provides that peddlers are not to solicit between sunset and 8 a.m.

Speaking of a teenage program, councilman John Longo, Jr., told of a conversation with a friend who lives in Florida. "In his county," Longo said, "they have a junior achievement program mostly making various products and selling them at a profit just like any business enterprise."

Longo added that most of the youth leaders he had conversed with were more interested in similar projects rather than just a building for "hang-out". He suggested some research work on these programs.

Regarding a building for youth programs, Goss was of the opinion it would have to be open to the public similar to a public library.

Waveland 4-H club sets cake sale Saturday

Waveland 4-H Club met April 25 in Waveland Methodist Fellowship Hall. Rollin Harrison led the pledges of allegiance to the flag. Lauren Lador read the March minutes and gave a demonstration on the four basic foods.

A cake sale to help defray camp expenses this summer will be held May 11 on Coleman Avenue.

Members were reminded of the dress review May 15 and attendance day May 25.

Elvira members and leaders Mingo, Maurice George, Henry Stiller and Earl Lador attended.

The meeting was closed with the 4-H pledge led by Miss Dufour.

St. Clare pupils visit New Orleans

St. Clare's kindergarten and eighth grade students spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Kinderergarten children picnicked in Audubon Park, while eighth graders visited the war museum and several other places of interest.

Alderman Dominick Sontor told of numerous persons who had contacted him regarding the city dog problem saying one lady had formed a humane society that was willing to handle the problem. Sontor said she was waiting word from council whether this would be acceptable and if so she would enlist members in Bay St. Louis. Sontor was told to give her the go-ahead.

Mrs. Charles Tibbets asked for a donation for advertising for the International Children's Village slated for Bay St. Louis this summer and received $50. Delegates from 11 counties will attend the camp at St. Margaret's Daughters' Home on South Beach, she said.

On Longo's suggestion, the four was authorized to write the state board of health regarding fluoridation of the town's water, saying it is seven tenths below normal rate.

Airport access road is port and harbor job

The port and harbor commission was requested Monday by the board of supervisors to build the access road to the new airport which the county has promised the Federal Aviation Administration it will provide.

Supervisor John Kellar suggested this route after port board members had discussed the matter.

Supervisor Kellar said the route would start at the intersection of Highway 90 and Highway 101, and would run north to the airport.

Supervisor Kellar said the route would be a two-lane road, and would be built at a cost of $100,000.

last summer's elections when it did not seem wise to call for another bond election.

Supervisors were somewhat surprised to find the road was their responsibility. Hill recalled that FAA would provide money only if it were fenced in. The previous administration felt abutting property owners and potential industry should have a say in it and indicated the county would build it.

Hill reported the county's application for additional federal funds under the FAA's 1965 program have been denied but the request may be re-submitted at some future date. Limited federal funds prohibit inclusion this year, he was told. Besides that, the national airport plan does not indicate the need for improvements requested and the carrier is not sufficiently established to justify them, he was informed.

If more money isn't forthcoming, the county will have to pay for the road.

coming in 18 months, the airport won't be usable, supervisors complained. The present funds are for the runway only.

Supervisors confirmed the port commission's recommendation to pay claim docket B and four change orders involving dredging, clearing and the like at Mulatto Bayou. They also approved hiring William Goldman for engineering services on the airport road for $2,382 and were miffed by a letter from Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineers on the project, complaining that the port solicited prices from other engineers.

Junior class stages play at North Central Grandma's Best Years, a comedy by Earl L. Russell, was presented last week by the junior class at North Central High School.

Directed by Robert Clapp, assisted by Lloyd Wilson and Nancy Wilson, it dealt with a situation concerning a social climber's efforts to surge ahead and Grandma's desire to keep things on a more normal plan. An invitation to a family black-tie, resulted in a truck load of gangsters using the family home as a hideout but grandma was equal to the occasion and eventually sorts everything out.

Students participating were Frances Moran, Sharon Orr, Debbie Hebert, Susan Lee, Jo Ellen Cuevas, Mike Lader, Clyde Moran, Donna Moran, Terry Mitchell, Tami Moran, Truss Odom, Kathy McQueen, Bruce Bennett, Nancy Hall and Carl Smith.

Jordan River County teachers wait zoning meet set for May 17 for $1,000 pay hike

Arrests of 12 for boating violations on several bays and rivers last Saturday and Sunday parked Sheriff Fred Curren and Game Warden Pat Toomey's decision to set Friday May 17, as the date for the public meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the courthouse.

Curren told the board of supervisors Monday that the Jordan River and surrounding bays are in need of zoning for boating, fishing, and other recreational activities. He said that the board should consider the possibility of zoning certain areas for boating and fishing, or assigning a full-time deputy to patrol these waters.

Board members agreed that something should be done, but that sportsmen and conservation personnel should be made aware of the laws and have voice in the matter of zoning.

Rittiner strike settlement may be today
A difference of 10 cents per hour was the only major working agreement difference between Local 791, Sign and Pictorial Painters Union and Rittiner Industrial Enameling, Inc., following mediation talks Wednesday.

Hope for immediate end of the week long strike involving 170 workers, 67 of Local 691 and 102 sheet metal members of Local 11, who are not crossing picket lines dimmed Wednesday after strikers rejected management's latest offer.

Union representatives V.A. Stokes, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, of Ponce de Leon, La., and Phillip Reed, both of Local 971, revealed terms offered for a one year wage contract by Rittiner. Workers voted to hold out for the ten cents additional wage hike.

Reed said he had talked to R.P. Guilbault, executive vice-president and general manager of the firm who agreed to further negotiations at 10 a.m. today at Club Lodge.

Sidney Otis
Sidney Otis, 76, Logtown native and resident of New Orleans died Wednesday in New Orleans. He was a member of the Methodist Church and Diamond Lodge 393 F&M at Logtown, and vice-president of Otis Properties, Inc., of Hancock County.

Son of the late J. Otis and Mrs. Viola Amelia Carre Otis, he is survived by his wife, the former Mamie Howze of New Orleans; a daughter, Miss Thelma Otis, New Orleans; a sister, Mrs. Ethel O. Lawrence, Orlando, Fla., and a brother, Lamar Otis, Hancock County Circuit Clerk.

Funeral services will be in the McDonald Funeral Home, Picoque, at 10 a.m. Friday with burial in the Logtown Cemetery. Relatives and friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Mrs. R. Cuovas
Mrs. Viola Cuovas, 61, of Dodson, died at 10:10 p.m. Sunday at Gulfport Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since April 26.

Born March 23, 1907, in Harrison County, she was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband, Randolph Cuovas, Dodson, a daughter, Mrs. Ida Lee Wiggworth, a brother, Roy Lader, and two sisters, Mrs. Berta Dubuison and Mrs. Porline Dubuison, all of Pass Christian.

A prayer service was held Tuesday at the residence followed by regular mass in Sacred Heart Church with Father Volo officiating. Informant was in Baton Rouge Cemetery.

Grid pact

St. Stanislaus and St. Clare's parishioners have agreed to a pact to share the use of the school building for religious services.

Both McCullough and Brother Leo expressed satisfaction that the two schools were assuming football competition. Brother Leo saying it would not only bring students of the schools closer together but the spirit of competition would tend to spur athletes to greater heights, agreeing that a physical fitness program was an important phase of student activity.

"It is time to forget bygones and look to the future," McCullough, former president and board member of the conference, said adding that he had been working for years to bring the two schools closer together. "I firmly believe it is for the benefit of the students."

Also seemingly at stake are several unpaid tradesmen's bills incurred by the company when the two trailers were being connected to utilities and the like.

Clapp said Johnson urged all Mississippi Education Assn. delegates present at Monday afternoon's session to speak to their representatives and induce them to vote in the required tax hikes.

Trustees are meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday to discuss the subject as well as hear County Superintendent Eugene Lader report of his trip to Jackson seeking state aid for their roofing project at North Central School.

Fred Wagner, architect, Monday recommended trustees accept the roofing bid of C.C. McDonald, Jr., at a base price of $36,372. While not the lowest bid he recommended it as the best. Apparent low when bids were opened April 1, was R.P. Bayly of Jackson with a base of $30,000.

Other base bids were August Rauxer, Jr., $37,998.72; James Travica, $38,731.54; Fetta Construction, $41,940.

Wagner said he, McDonald, E.R. Dillman, the roofing subcontractor, and an engineer from the roofing materials manufacturing company had undertaken further tests of the roof and found a definite lack of support.

McKay was named chairman of a committee to prepare a county platform for presentation at the state convention and inclusion in its platform.

The group also indicated that in the majority they favored Richard Nixon as Presidential nominee with Gov. Ronald Reagan getting second choice.

Mrs. Tony Mattina
Mrs. Corinne Lawrence Mattina, 83, native of Bay St. Louis and a resident of Biloxi for approximately 80 years, died early Tuesday at Howard Memorial Hospital. She was the widow of Tony Mattina and a member of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church.

Survivors include four sons two daughters, a brother, a sister, 10 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending arrival of relatives.

Mr. Russell J. Elliott, President, Hancock County Board of Supervisors

Mr. Leo W. Seal, Jr., President, Mississippi Economic Council

For the past few days we've felt we had a special privilege in being able to just look at anything we want to do. Envisioning anyone free to enjoy the spring sunshine, to fish, crab, swim or just go for a nice long walk made the prospect of being the same old typewriter boy after hours, something less than appealing. Today we have had such a steady rainfall continues to pour from low hanging grey clouds, the Echo should be just as comfortable as any other spot at the moment. Unfortunately, we still don't feel exactly satisfied, so will once again try the remedy that never fails, let's look back through time to—hmmmm—how about 28 years ago? Let's see what was going on in Hancock County almost three decades ago.

Turning back time 28 years

Page 1 of the May 10, 1940, edition of the Sea Coast Echo featured a lead story about the annual Bay High May Festival describing guests of queen Rita Bonifacio and her maid of honor Rosa Nelson. Mrs. Nelson was king of the affair, royalty being collected as back of celebratory work and prominence in school activities, and none other than Theodore Thomas was king of honor. Elsewhere on the page names of the 30 graduates appeared. Among those were the above named, of course, and Mary Carr, Joe Cook, John and Linwood Rutherford, (Nick) who always wondered why Lin was spelled that way! Shirley Smith, Billy Osbourne, Mario Evelyn Turcotte and Frank Chisholm.

At St. Joseph production activities for the 11 receiving diploma, accompanied their May festival and Princess Taguchi (Patsy) were the crown. Some others in this class were Violet Arceneaux, Amelie Arnold, Rita Bopp, Elsie Mae Capdapan and Mary Ryan.

Remember the nickel hot dogs

New that we've probably made enemies of a number of former friends by giving away their ages in these items, we'll open the tro of the past by quoting some prices that appeared in advertisements of that era. A new Chevrolet could be purchased for $999 and only $807 was the maroon listing for an Oldsmobile. As for food, a beachfront restaurant offered hamburgers and hot dogs for 8 cents each, 10 cents for either a chicken salad or ham sandwich and if you were really hungry you had a choice of meatballs and spaghetti or baked ham and potato salad for the staggering sum of 15 cents.

And even more about days gone by. A Gulfport radio station is observing the month of May, National Radio Month, by presenting recordings of programs popular some 30 years ago. Last week's offerings included Orson Wells' War of the Worlds, which frightened original audiences into sheer panic, Ray Amos' Florida Night, Duffy's Tavern and several of the great old-time "radio operas" such as Ma Perkins and Our Gal Sunday. Hopewell might enjoy some of these re-runs and enjoy fond memories of the time the kids were too young to listen to WTEH 84 hours a day.

Groundbreaking shindig

Lots of commotion coming up in the next few weeks. Saturday is scheduled for the long-awaited airport groundbreaking and a whole lot of celebrating the party being given by John and Mary Williams, great of honor. The luncheon is to be at Club LeRoy, and the first shovel full of earth will be dug at 2:30. Williams' first state convention, the gathering of World War I veterans, began on June 19, has local barracks members in a gala year, took a little time off last week for a combined business and pleasure trip to Houston, Tex. He's asked us to round all that the last meeting before the convention will be at the last home of 8 p.m. Wednesday. This is a most important session and Norton Ross, Jr., will be guest speaker. It is with pleasure we note that Post 139 Legionnaires have their renovations well underway and the new brick exterior should be complete when convention visitors arrive for the banquet there.

Margalo and Porro Quintini and children Kenneth, Jimmy, Terri and Susan of Alameda, Va. arrived here Wednesday to spend a month with Margalo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bamberino, before Porro, a master carpenter in the Air Force, leaves for a tour of duty in Thailand. They will also spend some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quintini, and sisters Marie, Elaine and Andrea.

Rehearsals for Cal on a Hot Tin Roof are reportedly still going well despite the fact that the feminine lead, Jill (Mrs. Gerald) Case, suffered a circumpunct last week.

Auction points

John Balch admitted some interesting sales action in the form of an auctioneer's notice with numerous comments to wit: any given day, allow it to be made with all of time a-bidder by former residents and eventually checks will be completely fulfilled. They're not for sale, they should be in good condition for a big sum of money. He then suggested that a stranger could promote horse sales by putting out the fact that the checks would make great battle points for horses and adding it to their end-of-the-world and their "checks" are permanently installed and guaranteed for life. Aside to John: We agree completely with your political economic.

More puppies up for adoption. The Joe Curran has five little shaggy dogs available. One is all white, another black and the others range from black to brown. The mother is a beautiful bull dog and these little cuties should make ideal children's pets. Interested? Then just phone 467-4165.

Tommy and Mary Curran have been calling and asking if there's any truth to the rumor that a new air line alloy is in the making. Frankly we're not sure, but certainly hope it's true.

MRS. JOHN MILLER, JR.

Pink ladies open house Wednesday

Plans for openhouse at Hancock General Hospital were made when the auxiliary met last Thursday with Mrs. Leo Seal, president, presiding.

The affair, with auxiliary members as hostesses, will be from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8 p.m. May 15.

The public is invited to come and take a conducted tour of the hospital at this time.

Rosalie Ducharme reported on the recent Candy Stripper workshop in Jackson which she and 22 other members attended.

Mrs. Kermit McKay discussed the Novemember International Smorgasbord scheduled for noon May 22 at Dielman Center; tickets at $2 per person are now available. Proceeds will go to the hospital auxiliary.

Members were reminded that 1967-68 dues are now payable.

Charity work is reviewed for lay women

Sister Zella Thoreson of Gulfport, who is associated with Catholic Charities, was speaker at Our Lady of the Gulf Women's Lay Apostolate meeting last Thursday, discussing the organization's work.

Mrs. James J. Hanson, pastor, gave a scripture reading and offered the opening and closing prayers.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Michael Haas, president, the new Constitution and By-Laws were adopted.

The annual church fair June 15-16 was discussed. Members will have charge of the candy booth and anyone interested in helping is asked to contact Mrs. Haas.

Mrs. Norton Haas, charity chairman, reported, and it was noted that members of the community affairs committee had distributed palm palm Sunday to residents of the County Home, Gulf View Haven and Hancock General Hospital.

The June luncheon-meeting has been changed from the first Thursday to June 13.

Miss, Haas and Leo Hayden were hostesses.

Fish notes

Saturday's deluge probably broke up the snail shell crabbers playhouse temporarily, but they were being picked up dozens of the time, every night last week.

That evening have been passing on a ton of large red fish catches also.

More puppies

More puppies up for adoption. The Joe Curran has five little shaggy dogs available. One is all white, another black and the others range from black to brown. The mother is a beautiful bull dog and these little cuties should make ideal children's pets. Interested? Then just phone 467-4165.

Bowling fans, especially those favoring lanes to no more have been calling and asking if there's any truth to the rumor that a new air line alloy is in the making. Frankly we're not sure, but certainly hope it's true.

What is A Mother?

To her family, she's special.
She's understanding,
a banquet chef, a short order cook,
a fountain of love, a chauffeur,
warmth and security.
She's clean socks, starched dresses,
a mender of hurts.
She's scrubbed ears,
a tender nurse, a maid, a queen.
She deserves a day of honor and tribute
She deserves the love of those she loves
Yes, she's very, very special.
This Sunday, you'll tell your mother
how much you care.
We'd like to tell all mothers, "We Care, too."

Tears stream down face of Valera C. Jones athletic coach Willie Bradley as he receives five-minute standing ovation after receiving surprise award at close of coronation of annual awards banquet Friday night in school gym. The weather is about back to normal and the same applies to tides. Soft crabbing is the general talk and catches are being made nightly. Floundering is also in full swing. Soft crabbing and floundering are good from Cedar Point all the way to Bayou Cadey along the south. Hard crabs are beginning to give and some nice catches are being made. The crabs are of large size and full of meat.

Fishing in general has improved with plenty of fresh water fish being caught up Jordan River and in the marshes is improving. Soft water fishing both at the bay and in the marshes is improving.

Sheldon Seawoman caught a few flounders and other salt water fish at Half Moon. "No good," he said.

With ideal gaffing weather over the weekend numerous players turned the corner at Pass Christian Lake. The tide championships are in progress at this time.

Two players are Russell and Ray, K.C., Ellick. They are holding the game seriously and should make good players. Ray plays when home from college.

A tournament for employees of the Hancock Bank was played over the weekend at P.C.I.C. Among those noted playing were Leo Seal, Jr., and Bob Hamilton.

To mention a few more golfing were Sydney Prager, C.O. McDonald, Jr., Don Grims, Junior, and Red Reubens. Dick Martin, Merlin Marshall, Jim Durham, and Norman Renshaw. The course, under the guidance of Pro. Cal Smith and the grounds committee is in excellent shape and getting better all the time.

Dick Montgomery and his can caught a couple of dozen cat crabs and night crawlers. Dick said it was a good catch and the cat crabs were really good.

Dick Montgomery made a nice catch of crabs and porch last night. Dick said they were really good. He was peeping bugs only.

Wade's pleasure to meet Ed Montgomery. He knows all kinds of sports and has played football, basketball, baseball and golf. As of now he is into fishing.

Richard P. Baker recently spent a few days at the Bay fishing with friends. He had

Bradley steals show at VCI awards night

Pearlie Walker won the girls athletes of the year award; Larry Peters and Ernest Taylor tied for the boys but coach Willie Bradley stole the show with a five-minute standing ovation when he was given two special awards at the close of ceremonies of annual awards night banquet at Valera C. Jones School.

Other awards were most valuable players, football, Larry Peters; basketball, Ernest Taylor and Lorraines Hargett; most spirited girl, Pearl Walker, boy, Joe Collins; most valuable track stars, Pearl Walker and Ivory Gillum; sportsmanship, Barbara Hawkins and Lonnie Jordan; rooster of year, Schwanndor Ball and Gilbert Gillum; best team players, Kim Bell and Lionel Acker; most improved, Alice LeMay and Lionel Acker.

The coveted scholastic awards given to athletes with best scholastic averages went to Leanne Sams and Lionel Acker.

After the ceremonies, VCI graduates made the presentation to coach Bradley after citing Bradley's record since coming to Jones in 1949 when he was honorably discharged.
